

Psalm 67

¹⁻² God be merciful to us, and in keeping with Your tender love and kindness, please bless us. Then let us know that You are happy to do it. Please do it so that the whole world will know that You are able to give Your children saving and healing power. Show them that You are actually willing to do just that for Your people.

Folks, stop what you are doing, and ponder the great truth you just read. Then recognize the benefits of trusting in the God of the Bible.

³ O LORD, allow the populace to see Your goodness and praise You. In fact, allow every person everywhere to see it and praise You. ⁴ Allow the nations of the world to be glad and sing for joy over the fact that You judge every person without partiality or favoritism and that You govern the nations guiding them down the right path if they will allow You.

Folks, stop what you are doing, and ponder the great truth you just read. Recognize God's good hand in dealing with men and nations.

⁵ LORD, allow the populace to praise You. Better yet, allow each individual to praise You. ⁶ Then please bless us so that the earth will yield bumper crops of produce. ⁷ LORD, please bless us in this way so that people from the ends of the earth will fear and reverence You.
